

ESW and M2 Office Interiors have created a great place where employees can go to make private phone calls, host meetings or work alone for optimal concentration. M2 Office installed Qyos Acoustic booths from Actiu which not only look modern and stylish but also come with numerous benefits.

BACKGROUND

ESW is a busy corporate office that recognised the need for more meeting rooms.

They needed sound proof, modern spaces to hold meetings with their clients. Sustainability is extremely important to ESW, so it was crucial to them that the meeting pods were environmentally friendly, while also giving a modern look and feel to the space.

ABOUT THIS PROJECT

By installing Qyos Acoustic booths from Actiu, noise disturbance is significantly reduced, providing employees with quiet spaces for focused work or confidential conversations.

Qyos are high quality sustainability manufactured pods, which meet the expectations and requirements for a sustainability conscious client.

RESULTS

Employees now have access to private spaces where they can work without distractions, leading to improved concentration and productivity. The availability of meeting spaces within the office encourages collaboration and communication among team members, fostering a more cohesive work environment.

“From start to finish, M2Office have been incredible, from their knowledge of their products, to their selection of stock and options means you can truly tailor the pods to your needs and look. Their response times are exceptionally fast and scheduling is flexible to your needs.

We couldn't be more thrilled with the meeting room pods - they're absolutely fantastic! Working with the entire team has been an absolute pleasure. The team's professionalism, attention to detail, and impeccable work ethic have truly impressed us. They've maintained a tidy and safe workspace throughout the install, and their friendly demeanor has made the entire process enjoyable.

Thank you M2Office for making a great impact on the ESW workplace.”
